SESSION IS LAUNCHED

ter may now be expected to "religiously" perform his duties. The minutes of the extra session finally being read, a message from the Governor was received. Ewallo wished to be placed on record that he was there at the beginning of the session and that Hihlo wasn't. Makekau asked for suspension of rules to introduce the bill that was given notice of the day previous. Prendergast submitted that the Governor's message should first be read, and that Makekau's bill for compensation of services, although important, could be included in the Appropriation bill. Makekau, book of rules in hand, submitted that the question of compensation was one that must be taken up. Mahoe agreed that this was the proper time to introduce the bill, but that a suspension of rules was not necessary. The bill was then read, being an Act to appropriate funds for the expenses of the extra session and the unpaid bills of the regular session of 1901. The bill passed its first reading. The Governor's message was then read. Dickey: "I move that the message be referred to the Finance Committee with instructions to bring in an Appropriation bill as soon as possible." The motion was seconded and carried. The rules were suspended for the reading of a concurrent resolution of Emmeluth that a committee of two be instructed to wait upon the Governor and ask what had happened to the County bill and other measures that had been submitted to him. Emmeluth: "I read in the evening papers that the Governor had received reports from the Attorney General that had prompted him to sign at least one of these bills. I am sorry the Governor did not allude to this in the message. I don't feel that we can go into the Appropriation matter until we find out the Governor's feeling towards these bills. I therefore ask the adoption of this resolution."

Robertson: "It is just such resolutions that tend to perpetuate the bad feeling between the Governor and the House. The Organic Act shows clearly what happens to bills not reported back to the House. They have experienced what is termed a pocket veto. There seem to be members of this House who delight in exceeding their authority as Representatives and trespassing upon the Governor's domain of duty. I move to indefinitely postpone this resolution." Emmeluth: "If the Governor has done what the papers say he has done, we have a right to know about it. If the Governor in his high sense of duty signed a bill—if he consulted the pulse of the people—he would have signed the County bill. Twenty-three votes were registered in this House, ten votes in the Senate, sufficient to pass this measure over the pocket veto of the Governor. The Governor is standing between the people and their rights. If he has done work between sessions, so can we. There is nothing that comes up in the Supreme Courts more important to the people than the matter of the County bill. It is unconstitutional to deprive them of the rights provided for in this bill." Dickey seconded Robertson's motion, saying that the last sixty-day session was frittered away by constant taxes against the Executive. "The Governor is the best friend the Hawaiians ever had, though they don't know it. I know personally that he is anxious to supply any information wanted. This resolution will do no good. This is a special session and we can't do anything but what it calls for."

Emmeluth: "I'll show up Mr. Dole's aloha before this session is over." Robertson: "It seems to me that the honorable member's remarks are tommyrot. The majority of this House is responsible for the delay of the County bill. It is a shyster trick to put the responsibility on the Governor. As to passing over a pocket veto, that is absurd. It can't be done. If the honorable member would rise to the occasion and swallow the personal spite he has shown toward the Executive since the beginning of the session, this special session would accomplish something."

Emmeluth: "Were it not for the newspapers I would not have spoken. My personal ends have never been furthered. I deny it. I could speak all day and all night. It is my right to fight the Governor on this floor to a finish. I will prove the Governor to have never been the friend of the Hawaiian. I will show up the Governor in a way to blacken the record of any man and his honor. A record that fills the country with Japanese is dirty enough for any man. I am fighting for the rights of the people, and as long as I have a tongue to wag, I will wag it for the people. Ever since 1893 that man has worked against the Hawaiians. Annexation! They never wanted annexation. If my personal feelings toward the Governor have made me fight more firmly for the people, that is my right, and I will fight it out along the lines of Patrick Henry. I am aware that anything we do may be illegal, if so was the Governor's action illegal. If he signed bills between sessions, I know that the County bill is wished for by the great majority of the people, and no man—Governor or no Governor—can prevent me from making every effort to accomplish the ends of that measure." The motion to indefinitely postpone was lost. Prendergast: "In order to bind down the Governor, I amend that the clerk be instructed to ask the question."

Emmeluth thereupon changed the resolution to a House instead of a concurrent resolution. Makekau: "I do not think it proper to take up newspaper and street talk in such a matter. I think this ought to go to the Upper House." Emmeluth: "The Upper House has frequently been pestered on behalf of the people and found wanting; therefore I make this a House resolution, and move that the same be adopted." The motion was adopted and the House adjourned until today.

After the session many of the Home Rulers thronged around Emmeluth and shook hands with him, while Makekau held forth in English to a silent audience at the other end of the throne room.

"What's the use of listening to what newspapers say? By golly, Emmeluth, fool all our time away. He try, too, to overthrow our monarchy, but he got left and now he is mad. We don't want to waste time talking about all that. We know. We saw with our own eyes. They all try to steal our monarchy. What do we want to hear all over again about those times? One thief gets left and he kicks. Emmeluth talks too much."

Some of the Home Rulers are talking about extending the session until Beckley comes back from the Coast. Owing to Beckley's absence, two changes were made necessary on the committees—J. K. Prendergast taking his place as chairman of the Agricultural Committee and Mossman the vacancy of chairman of the Public Health Committee.

Three Lives Lost.
LITTLE CURRENT, Great Manitoulin Island, Ont., May 3.—The steamer Germanic reports that last night when off Gore Bay light the tug Tecumseh was sighted in a disabled condition. The captain of the tug asked that he be towed to Gore Bay, and the Germanic gave her a line. After proceeding some distance the captain of the Tecumseh hailed the steamer, saying they were sinking. Strike May Be Called.

CHICAGO, May 3.—The hopes of the machinists that they would effect a settlement of their difficulties with the Illinois Central Railway Company without a strike, have been dissipated by the firm attitude of the company regarding the question of hours. It is stated that a strike may be called before next Tuesday. Machinists employed in all divisions of the system held meetings last night, and it is said all have declared in favor of a strike.

Denies Railroad Deal.

PHILADELPHIA, May 3.—T. Dewitt Cuyler, a director of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, today emphatically denied that the Pennsylvania Company has secured or is trying to secure a representation in the affairs of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad. Mr. Cuyler said: "There is absolutely no truth in those reports. They are without the slightest foundation. The Pennsylvania Company is not buying any of the Atchison's stocks."
